

Glucose Gel (Oral)

(Glucose, Insta-Glucose)

I. Classification

- Carbohydrate

II. Action(s)

- Increases circulating blood sugar for cellular metabolism

III. Indication(s)

- Hypoglycemia in an alert patient with the ability to swallow

IV. Contraindications

- Known hypersensitivity
- Altered level of consciousness

V. Precautions

- Patient must have ability to swallow without airway compromise

VI. Drug interactions

- None

VII. Adult Dosing and Administration

- 15 gm (1 tube), repeat until improved condition and blood glucose > 60 mg/dl
- Must have intact gag and be able to handle own secretions

VIII. Pediatric Dosing and Administration

- Age >1 year: 15 gm (1 tube)
- Up to 45 gm until improved condition and blood glucose > 60 mg/dl
- Must have intact gag and be able to handle own secretions
- Not indicated in age <1 year, consider patient's formula / juice / baby food

IX. Onset

- Within 10 minutes

X. Duration

- Depends on degree of hypoglycemia

XI. Possible Adverse Effects

- Nausea / Vomiting
- Aspiration

XII. Note

- As glucose normalizes, follow with protein source as tolerated to maintain normal glucose